

READY FOR ANYTHING

Could you help us during an emergency?

We're looking for volunteers who are ready for anything

We can't predict when a major incident might happen, but we do know that they're upsetting and disruptive for the people involved.

Ready for Anything volunteers provide practical support, helping the emergency response during an incident. You don't need to make a regular commitment, but we will notify when there's an emergency and if you're able to help you can confirm by text message. We'll also provide you with training and keep in regular contact. If you're ready for anything, register your interest online now.

www.emergencynorthyorks.gov.uk/readyforanything

Ready for when North Yorkshire needs you

